Personal Statement

A qualified IT professional with industry experience as a front-end developer. For more than 3 years, UI development has been the central piece of my professional world. On this fast paced and dynamic journey, I have moved over the years from being a basic frontend development stack to a full-time Angular development and working on web application projects. Currently seeking for a challenging opportunity to work within Frontend development and grow my career to constantly learn and enhance my capabilities. Looking forward to using my knowledge and skills for the growth of the company.
